written by Theresa Hush | March 27, 2020

To assist the health care provider community's heroic efforts to combat COVID-19, Roji Health Intelligence has launched a new Population Health Registry for Patients at High Risk for Severe COVID-19.

Our goal is to help providers track, monitor, and communicate with patients whose underlying health conditions will make them more vulnerable to the virus, particularly as resources are reallocated away from routine medicine to meet the exceptional demands of the pandemic.

The program is being offered to current Roji Health Intelligence clients at no additional charge.
